

Youth Bible Study/EYC for Fall 2009

Dear brothers and sisters,

Fall is finally here and it's time for the youth of the church to get together for worship, study, and fellowship. This year, we are going to meet on Tuesday nights for a weekly Bible study. We'll be searching through God's word together for answers to many of the questions that face young people in daily life at school, at home, and in Christian faith. No matter our age, we all face hard questions about how we maintain our Christian lives in the world, and these are the sorts of things that we will discuss together.

Our discussions will be geared to members of our parish from roughly 7th to 12th grade, but we won't be checking for ID at the door. If anyone is slightly out of that range, but wishes to come take part in the Bible study, feel free to drop in. Also, we know that there are some subjects that are best left between parents and their children, and those won't be in the curriculum. Our focus will be on friendships, family, and our walk with Christ.

We'll meet from 7:00 - 8:30 every Tuesday evening in the Starnater building. Kids should eat before they arrive (or bring something with them), but we'll provide snacks. If anyone has dietary restrictions or allergies, let us know and we'll accommodate them.

As always, we would love for parents to sit in and observe; you are always welcome. Conveniently, our schedule coincides with the adult Bible study, so we hope that you'll consider joining that group for prayer and study while your kids do the same with us.

Always feel free to call us with any questions or feedback, or send an email (contacts below). We always love to hear from the parents of the youth to whom we minister.

God Bless,

Jason and Susan Richards
